Presenter: Dr. Kathleen Smith

Under the ESEA flexibility provisions, Virginia will offer differentiated supports and interventions for underperforming schools. States must identify a number of schools equal to five percent of the state's Title I schools as priority schools based on the performance of the "all students" group and graduation rates. The flexibility offer also requires states to identify ten percent of the state's Title I schools as focus schools based on the performance of subgroups and graduation rates. The presenter will share Virginia's plan for supporting priority and focus schools.
